BRITISH WARSHIPS SINK NINE GERMAN MERCHANT VESSELS

Also Norwegian Vessel Under German Control, In Tuesday Raids

A TOTAL OF 18,000 TONS

Norwegian "Patriots" Taken, "Anxious To Fight For Freedom's Cause"

(By International News Service)

LONDON, Mar. 6.—British warships sank nine German merchant vessels and another Norwegian merchant vessel under German control in their spectacular raid on the Lofoten Islands of Norway on Tuesday, it was announced in London today.

In addition, the British Admiralty stated a German armed trawler was sent to the bottom. The 11 ships sunk totaled 18,000 tons.

(The German version of the raid claimed that British naval forces had landed troops after "shelling some fishing boats.")

Today's British communiqué said 215 German soldiers and 10 Norwegian "Quislings" were captured. The British forces also brought back to England a number of Norwegian "patriots" who were described as "anxious to fight for the cause of freedom."

The Admiralty said the "opportunity was taken to supply the local population with foodstuffs, soap, cigarettes clothing and other comforts of which the Norwegians have been robbed since the German occupation."

"During Tuesday's raid on the Lofoten Islands," the Admiralty said, "the Royal Navy sank nine German merchant vessels, one Norwegian merchant vessel under German control, and one German armed trawler."

"The British forces suffered no damage or casualties."

"The raid was planned with a three-fold object—first, to destroy a plant used for production of fish oil which is used in making explosives; second, to destroy German ships in the locality; third, to take prisoners among the Germans."

BUCKS COUNTIANS TO SEND FEEDING UNIT TO GREAT BRITAIN

Group Organizes To Raise About $2000 To Purchase and Ship Outfit

UNIT TO COST $1750

Will Hold Giant Public Auction At Doylestown On March 15th

A mobile feeding unit is to be purchased and shipped to England as the result of a movement being sponsored by the British War Relief Society, Inc. Funds are now being raised and a giant public auction is to be conducted on the evening of March 15th at 7.30 in the Moose Building at Doylestown.

"There seems little doubt," says Miss Ellen Ross, chairman of the committee, "that sufficient money will be raised by the evening of March 15 to purchase the mobile feeding station which will be shipped to England by residents of Bucks county to be used exclusively for civilian relief and not for any type of combatant service."

"From Bucks county, Pennsylvania to Bucks county, England," the new mobile feeding station, now in the course of manufacture, will be labeled.

The committee has been assured that the new mobile feeding station will be on exhibition in Doylestown at the Fountain House plaza all day March 14 and 15. The campaign for funds will close the public auction.

PERKASIE AGREES TO BUY ELECTRIC CURRENT

Borough Signs Contract With Penna. Power & Light Company

TURBINE IS BROKEN

PERKASIE, Mar. 6.—The Borough of Perkasia has signed a contract with the Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. for one year, for electrical current at a minimum cost of $755 per month. The borough will spend about $10,000 in erecting a sub-station and power lines to take care of the current supplied by the utility.

The purchase of current was made necessary when a turbine in the borough's electric plant broke down a week ago. Council has not been able to have the turbine repaired because of a strike in the Allis-Chalmers plant in Milwaukee.

The services and rates are based on a 500 kilowatt base load at the minimum cost of $755 per month for 17,500 kilowatts. The rates will be on a sliding scale. If 99,000 kilowatts are used, the rate will be 1.65 cents per kilowatt. The engineers of the Pennsylvania company suggested that the company join its power lines with the borough lines on the Ridge road and tap the line on the Three Mile Run road constructing a line from this road to the borough line.

The borough will take the power from there and erect a sub-station. The power will then be taken from the sub-station to the plant switchboard. The cost to the borough will be about $10,000.

The net earnings of the power plant in February were $2135.63.

Street Commissioner Applebach reported that 75 truckloads of ashes and junk were collected during February. The amount of $232 from the 1940 tax duplicate was turned over to the borough by the tax collector. The outstanding accounts for the 1940 tax duplicate are $2412.55.

Borglum, Noted Sculptor, Dies

Chicago, Mar. 6.—Gutzon Borglum, the noted sculptor who fashioned the great Mt. Rushmore Memorial in the Black Hills, died today in Henrotin Hospital after a heart attack suffered last Sunday. The great sculptor would have been 74 years old had he lived until March 25th.

Borglum was recuperating from a recent operation when he suffered a severe setback last Sunday from a heart attack. Two days later, however, physicians announced that he seemed to be recovering. His condition while regarded as serious, had not caused undue anxiety until early this morning.

Mrs. Borglum, who suffered a broken arm in a fall recently, has been at her husband's bedside almost constantly since Sunday. A son, Lincoln, and his daughter, Mrs. Mary Ellis Vhay, were also with him when he died.

Borglum's greatest work was the huge Mt. Rushmore Memorial in which he carved the likenesses of Abraham Lincoln, George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and Theodore Roosevelt on the facade of a towering mountain in the Black Hills of South Dakota. The great project had not been completed when death overtook Borglum, however.

HEADLEY MANOR FIREMEN MARK 25TH ANNIVERSARY

James E. Groome, President of Bucks Co. Firemen's Ass'n, Is The Speaker

HISTORY IS RECOUNTED

EDGELY, Mar. 6.—At the 25th anniversary celebration of Headley Manor Fire Company held at Al's Grille, last evening, Horace Walker introduced Edward Britton, president of the company, who, after a few remarks, introduced James E. Groome, Yardley, president of Bucks County Firemen's Association. Mr. Groome spoke of the importance of the fire companies, stating that the losses in Bucks county have been cut down from one million and a half and three million, to $125,000 last year. He said it is his duty to give the people more adequate protection, and have the firemen drill and become more efficient in this particular work.

After considering the world war period, he said, "We are probably about to approach a similar period in this nation's history. The younger men have to get back in harness, the fire companies become less efficient, and the older men showed less enthusiasm. We must try and keep the fire companies up to high standard to keep down the losses."

Mr. Groome stated that England is suffering now, especially the women and children in the poorer districts, who are fighting fires resulting from bombing raids; adding that 2000 firemen have been killed trying to protect their homes. "What are we going to do about that situation if it comes to this country? That is something every man and woman must think about in America. We hope it does not come."

Mr. Groome also told of the formation of a preliminary planning committee under leadership of Sheriff William L. Stackhouse. The committee is to study all industries throughout Bucks county and plan for them a certain amount of protection. Chiefs attending meetings of the group appointed a sub-committee to study all interests of the community in which they live, in order to prevent sabotage and the starting of unnecessary fires. He stated that 18 active firemen from Bristol alone have been called in the present selective service; and stated again that the older men must get "back in harness."

Mr. Groome, who is also celebrating his 25th year in service with the fire

JUDGE REPRIMANDS HOTEL PROPRIETOR FOR HARBORING LADS

Bartender Who Cannot Tell Age Difference "Has No Right To License"

BOY IS OLD OFFENDER

Stephen Bennis, 20, is Sentenced To The Huntingdon Reformatory

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 6.—In considering sentence for a youth of 20 years, Judge Hiram H. Keller reprimanded a Bucks County hotel proprietor yesterday, criticizing him for "harboring boys."

Declaring that if a bartender cannot tell the difference between a person over 21 years of age and a boy of 16 years, he has no right to have a license, Judge Keller upbraided Stephen Dover, proprietor of Springtown Hotel, who sold drinks to a Bethlehem youth. The youth yesterday pleaded guilty to assault with intent to rob.

The youth, Stephen Bennis, 20, 1624 Columbia street, Bethlehem, who spent 11 months in Huntingdon Reformatory and was released in 1939, was sentenced to serve not less than two years in the same reformatory by President Judge Keller who explained "the trouble was he wasn't in long enough the first time and hadn't learned his lesson."

Private Andrew J. Kutney, of the Doylestown sub-station of the Penna. Motor Police, testified that Bennis, who admitted stealing a car which landed him in trouble the first time, and two friends, both of whom were 16-year-old youths, staged a hold-up in the Springtown Hotel on February 13. Hotel proprietor Stephen Dover testified the boys left the motor running in their car and acted sort of funny. "I got an ice pick just to let them see I had something, but when Bennis flourished a pistol, which turned out to be a toy-gun, and said, 'This is a stick-up, I mean business or I will plug you,' the hotel man said he opened the cash register."

The young bandit, who had a job and was earning $5 a day, said the car in which the three of them came to Springtown was stolen. The two 16-year-old defendants will be heard in juvenile court here some time.

"If you had lost your life in your effort to rob the hotelman he would have been justified in killing you with the ice pick in order to protect his property, so seriously does the law regard crimes of this sort," said Judge Keller.

"Why did you leave the boys in?" Judge Keller asked the hotelman.

"Because it is a public place and I

The Good Old Days

(By "The Stroller")

The third annual concert of William Penn Fire Company, Hulmeville, scheduled for March 10th, is postponed owing to a storm. It was originally scheduled for that night, in Johnson's hall, with a special trolley car leaving Jefferson street, Newtown, via Langhorne and Attleboro, to accommodate patrons.

Perhaps we better do some explaining right here. This does not refer to a concert in March of 1941, but in March of 1900, the circular advertising same being unearthed by Mr. and Mrs. Uweilan Miller, at their Middletown Township home.

The circular, which was posted this week in the fire company station at Hulmeville by Mr. Miller, mentioned that performers were to include the following vocalists and musicians: C. T. Lawrence, Mabel Afflerbach, Mabel Johnson, Anna Yardley, Mrs. Herman Trommer, Frank Schneider, Laura Wildermuth, Maggie Branklin, Carrie Shemider, Kate Leamuth, and George Gaul. A drama, "Hans VanSmash," was to be staged by: Gertrude Everitt, Isaac J. VanArtsdalen, George P. Vanzant, Bessie K. Hampton, D. Tilton Ellis, Florence Williams and B. Frank Vanzant.

Another circular found by the Millers listed a program for February 2, 1901, for benefit of the same fire company. The performers included: The Misses Mabel Johnson and Anna Doug

THE IRRECONCILABLES

In the conquered states of Europe the pot is beginning to boil. Though a lot of people are going to get scalded, it may be a pretty kettle of fish for Hitler before it is over. Rumors of conspiracy and sabotage have been corroborated by verified accounts of Nazi disciplinary action in Slovakia, Denmark, Norway and finally Holland.

If the phlegmatic Dutch are still intransigent, one may be sure that many volatile Frenchmen, patriotic Danes and Norwegians slow to anger but stubborn in resistance will refuse to accept docilely the rule of their oppressors.

In Amsterdam six civilians were killed and an unexplained number injured in clashes with the police. As a result of this "disturbance of the peace," as the Germans call it, a military administration has been imposed on the entire province of North Holland. Strikes, riots and sabotage continue to harass the invaders in all the far-flung territory occupied by the Nazis, with the result that Hitler must employ an increasingly large military force to hold the lid down.

The methods he employs to hold the lid down may be sanctioned by military practice but they flout every sense of human decency. Pictures of wholesale executions in Poland published in this country and testimony of refugees have an air of authenticity. These are not the "atrocities" of the World War which in exaggerated form were retailed for American consumption, but a disciplined, cold-blooded effort to suppress resistance in countries which nominally have surrendered.

That hundreds of innocent persons have perished with the guilty can no longer be doubted, but this very fact only serves to keep alive the fires of hate. Let Hitler show signs of tottering and the flames will break loose in ungoverned fury. In the meantime the refusal of these people to bow to the conqueror contributes to the dispersal of Nazi forces, already fighting in Africa and preparing for a Balkan campaign.

SKINNY DOES IT

Tall, slender men are the fashion, says the Custom Cutters' Club, and it now is the turn of the fair sex to grin and indulge in dietary animadversions in the breakfast nook. The lad who in school days answered some one eagerly to the call of "Skinny!" has his inning now, unless he has of late been piling on the surplus poundage youth denied him. For it's the streamlined physique for men, let the tailors tell it.

Coming into fashion, the Gotham experts again insist (don't they do this yearly?) is the "Dawn of Tomorrow" suit, but it will seem like the morning after the night before when the bill comes in. That is because thinning down of prices has not kept pace with thinning down of outlines of coats and trousers. The hapless barrel-shaped breadwinner will be less so, if the tailors have their way, as not so much stress will be placed on Samsonian breadth of shoulder, and legs will be made to seem longer, if only by a lessening circumference in the trousers.

Aluminum and tools are now being rationed and the country is warned that this is only a beginning. But the program isn't likely to affect this year's crop of spring chicken and strawberry shortcake.

"Lover Come Back"

by BARRETT WILLOUGHBY

SYNOPSIS

Fifty years ago, Captain "Dynamite" Danny O'Moore, master of the sealer, "Glory of the West," was in love with Jacqueline Reynall, daughter of Captain Ramon Reynall, a lover of Alaska seal poachers. A lovers' quarrel parted them, and, shortly after, Reynall caught "Dynamite" red-handed, his ship's hold full of seal pelts. O'Moore always felt that Jacqueline betrayed him. She was the only one who could have copied his charts of the coastline showing his hide-outs. "The Glory" was sold at Government auction. "Dynamite" never told anyone about it, not even his lovely granddaughter, Sondra, for whom he now manages "O'Moore Sealers, Ltd.," one of Alaska's leading fisheries. A strange concern, Baranov Packers, has an option to take over the late John Bates' contract for O'Moore's complete catch. It must be exercised by 11 A. M. the next day and a $30,000 advance paid. Kemp Starbuck, young president of American Packers, and an admirer of Sondra, is also anxious to get the fish. "Dynamite" disapproves of Kemp's outfit because it employs too many orientals. He believes Japan is charting the Alaskan coastline under the guise of "fishing." So O'Moore is determined that no one but the United States will get his maps. From his sky-top home, "Echo House," the veteran watches a sudden spurt of activity on the waterfront. Suddenly, his heart skips a beat, for there was the battered hulk of his old command, "The Glory," converted into a floating cannery, being towed to the Bates wharf. The Baranov Packers! How dare they do that to his ship? "Dynamite" sends Sondra to fetch the captain of the barge.

CHAPTER EIGHT

On the Bates dock the crowd parried to make way for the storm-eyed granddaughter of Captain O'Moore; but Sondra was oblivious of their odd, expectant glances and the excited whispering that followed her swift passage.

She went up the "Glory's" gangplank and hurried aft through a litter of labeling machines, stacks of coolers, boxes of cans, all recently hoisted from the hold. There she came upon a group of white and native cannery workers being addressed by the most intensely silver-looking young man she had ever seen; tall, lean-faced, with riotous black hair and brilliant dark blue eyes. He wore a white sleeveless undershirt which left bare a decidedly splendid pair of arms and shoulders, smoothly muscled and tanned to the golden-bronze shade that comes from judicious exposure to tropic suns.

His voice had a quiet ring of command that gripped the men to attention. "You have been hired to put up herring for the Baranov Packing Company. I'm asking you to give me a record pack this season. That means hard work, but you'll get top wages and a fat bonus. I'll see that you get the fish. You see that they're canned. Our plant's in perfect shape. The minute the first run of herring strikes in, we start running fish blast."

"I wouldn't be too sure of that!" Sondra, suddenly recalling her mission, had stepped into the cleared circle, and stood confronting him, green eyes flashing under her bright, wind-ruffled hair. "Before you put up any fish on this vessel, sir, you'll have to deal with my grandfather."

"We-e-l-l!" His eyebrows went up in admiring surprise; but in the curve of his smile was mockery and power. "Where did you drop from, Miss Aurora? And who is the puissant grandpa that he controls the denizens of the deep?"

"My grandfather is Captain O'Moore. He sends word that you are to call on him at once."

"O'Moore?" The name had an instant sobering effect. He turned to face the charthouse. Inside the open door, unnoticed until now, sat Miss Jacqueline Reynall, smoking a cigarette. "That's not the O'Moore?"

He shot the query at her.

Miss Jacqueline nodded, with a slight smile that seemed tinged with malicious amusement. The young man frowned thoughtfully; then dismissed the obviously curious workmen. "That's all now, Moose will give you your orders."

He spoke to Sondra: "I'll go with you. Just give me a moment to get into a sweater."

"I prefer not to wait for you. Anyone can direct you to Echo House." She looked at him coldly.

He answered with a sudden warm smile. "Jean Reynall could never forget the way to Echo House. Nor you—Sondra O'Moore."

Her heart lifted in joyous recognition, but the next instant reality—the grotesque, incredible reality—struck home. Jean Reynall, returning like this! The romantic sea rover of her dreams, coming home in command of a floating cannery. Turning to such debased use her grandfather's first command, once lost to him through the treachery of another Reynall.

She stared at him a moment, held speechless by the sickening wave of disillusionment that broke over her. How dared he stand there waiting, with that eager, expectant light in his eyes! A sudden uprush of indignation and contempt sent her toward him, her hands clenched into trembling little fists. "You—you—!" Her voice broke. And lest he see the impotent tears that welled into her eyes, she faced about and began running from him toward the gangplank.

"Oh, Sondra! Wait—just a minute!"

She rushed on blindly, until she found herself blocked by a red-headed young giant in the gangway. "Didn't you hear the skipper tell you to wait, Miss?" he said with immense reproach.

"Get out of my way, you—you Pittdown Percheron!"

"My name's Lane, Miss. Shadrach Ignatius Lane." He grinned and bowed deeply, without removing his hands from the ropes. "But you can call me Shady. All my friends do."

have to leave people in," replied the hotelman. "No, you don't if they look suspicious or act suspiciously," said Judge Keller.

"You were too anxious to make a little money off of the boys and let them serve as a warning. You have been entirely too free with such young people. You have no right to harbor juveniles in your place and should put them out," warned the Court.

Bennish, whose sister screamed out in anguish when he was sentenced to the reformatory, also admitted breaking into a box car in Bethlehem.

"You are no good and this is your third time with the law," said Judge Keller. "Apparently, you didn't get enough punishment the first time."

companies of Bucks county, concluded by saying he knew he can depend upon the men and women of this country to do their part.

Entertainment was furnished by Miss Helen Lundee, Philadelphia, tap specialties; and George Barker, ventriloquist. There were 125 present. The menu consisted of Virginia baked ham, string beans, mashed potatoes, beets, cole slaw, olives, pickles, celery, rolls, coffee, and ice cream.

The company was organized in 1915, and a charter issued, in February, 1916, to which 32 signatures were attached. The men first held their meetings in Cunningham's store, now Dick's store, and decided they would like to have a fire station.

Nathan C. Lane donated land on Griebel avenue, where the fire station is now situated, on a 99 years lease, or for as long as it is used as a fire station. He also supplied the cement block for the structure, and told members they could pay for them gradually. The men built the fire station, working together on Saturday afternoons and Sundays. They then decided to purchase a chassis; and also a body from a used wagon, building it up into their first fire engine. They cut holes in the wagon for the chemical tanks, and assembled it in Frank Kerr's garage on Griebel avenue.

The late Archie G. Wright was elected as the first president of the company, Harry S. McLaughlin succeeded him. Frank Kerr was elected fire chief and has been chief for 25 years. John P. Taylor surveyed the land which Mr. Lane deeded to the company.

The men also had parade uniforms, consisting of dark blue pants, white shirts and caps, and red ties. The Ladies Auxiliary also paraded with the men, the women wearing white. The Ladies Auxiliary co-operated with the firemen, conducting dances, bazaars, and helping in any way they could. The men held minstrels, shooting matches, carnivals, etc., to raise funds.

The company has grown and prospered. It has held two successful carnivals during the past two years; purchased $800 worth of new hose, and installed a new heating system in the fire station during the past year. The members' aim is to build a new building on their lots at Haines Road and Edgely avenue.

There are 52 active members; and they attended 53 fires last year; many being grass fires. They have also purchased six new hand pumps, and several new rubber coats, and gloves.

U. S. Moves Nearer Participation in Economic Blockade

Washington, Mar. 6.—The U. S. Government today was moving steadily nearer participation with Great Britain in an economic blockade of the Axis powers.

This government already has imposed a virtual economic blockade against Germany, Italy and the Nazi-dominated territories of Europe. It now is starting to impose severe economic restrictions against Soviet Russia and Japan.

These drastic measures are being taken in the interests of American national defense and to help Great Britain win the war, authoritative quarters said.

New York, Mar. 6.—Three persons perished and three others were found unconscious today in an apartment building in the Bronx. Police sought to determine whether some type of gas, possibly escaping coal gas, was responsible.

These Are Lemon Days

By Betty Barclay

So many people have learned the value of lemons when head colds are common, that "flu days" are really "lemon days." Hot lemonades are right now being taken by hundreds of thousands of men and women and this will continue until the present mild epidemic has disappeared.

But the versatile lemon lends itself to more than this. Appetizers, cocktails, sauces, salads, dressings, pies, frostings, puddings and cakes all call for the use of lemon. Here are two recipes that you will find excellent today—whether there are "colds" in your home or not:

Lemon Celery Victor

1 bunch celery tender portions, or 3 celery hearts
Cut into desired lengths (1 to 4 inches). Parboil in salted water 10 minutes. Drain. Cook 10 to 15 minutes longer in broth made by combining:
1 pint beef broth or consommé
1 teaspoon celery seed
6 pepper corns
4 tiny, dry red peppers
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 large or 2 small Sunkist lemons cut in thin slices
1/4 cup minced pimiento
Marinate until cold. Drain off liquid, retaining spices and lemon slices. Serve as an appetizer or a meat accompaniment.

Lemon Clover Rolls

2 cups flour, sifted
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup shortening
Sift dry ingredients and work in shortening. Add:
1/2 cup milk, soured with
3 tablespoons lemon juice
Knead slightly. Form dough into small, walnut-sized balls. Place 3 balls in each cup of a greased muffin tin. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Makes 16-20 rolls.

A new lamp stand has long arms mounted and counter-balanced by springs so that it can be raised, lowered, pushed, pulled, and swung easily and without requiring adjustments to hold it in place. It has a horizontal extension of 34 inches and vertically will reach 34 inches above or 26 below the base. It is available to clamp on a table or with a stand.

An extension telephone line will be placed in the fire chief's home from the fire house telephone so that fire alarms may be received at either place. The amount of $400 was paid by council for reconditioning the Hahn fire truck.

Council was requested to establish a grade in Ridge avenue. The matter will be referred to property owners and borough engineers. Bids will be asked for the work in opening a trench for water and sewer lines in order to develop the Sturm tract on Ridge avenue.

A half-ton truck was purchased from Spielman's Garage, Perkasie.

The WPA approved the borough's application for labor to install a 12-inch sewer line between the water filter and the reservoir, a stretch of a mile and a half. The work will begin in April.

ON WAR

My twisted limbs no harness could restrain
If righteous conquest call'd to me again,
But only God true righteousness can see,
And so I say—"No more of war for me."

"Judge not and be not judged," of Nation as of man
Bids He Whom Heralds claimed the Prince of Peace—Godman.
If in His name the seekers of man's gold
Solicit you by journalism bold
To make you think your prestige, power, renown
Entangled makes for peace—
Remember the command of God, avoid justice's frown—
"Thou shalt not kill"—so cease.
The rampant savage, once turned loose,
Begets the dungholes, filth, and slime
Of those whose sin is legal crime.
His whining shells create for use
The pallid corpse, or parts of it

The general survey of the borough which is being made by the WPA will be completed by April 1st.

The park commission was authorized to purchase a new power mower for the use of the park.

The highway department reported that the snow plow had worked continuously for 21 hours on Friday.

The Great Game of Politics

lationalists oppose the notion of our continuing to send military supplies to Britain after her cash has been exhausted, and of conveying these supplies so as to insure their delivery—that fury becomes somewhat ridiculous. In the light of what has been and is being done, the whole debate on the lease-lend bill ceases to be a question of principle or policy and becomes merely one of degree. It stops being a question of helping the British and becomes one of whether to help them adequately and effectively or not to help them in that way.

THE reference, of course, is to the American Red Cross and the extraordinary service it has rendered to the English cause since the real war started. Attention to this has been called recently by two incidents. One is the return here—temporarily—of Mr. David K. E. Bruce, who has been in charge of the Red Cross work in Great Britain since the war began. The other was a line printed in the Associated Press report of the terrific pounding by Nazi bombers Monday night of the town of Cardiff, Wales, resulting in much loss of life and damage to property. It was there stated that the American Red Cross had rushed its ambulances from London to Cardiff at night—a distance of 160 miles.

ALL of which makes it seem worth while to present some of the Red Cross details of "aid to Britain." Since last June it has spent more than $11,000,000 in Britain. Some of this came out of the Red Cross' own treasury, but the bulk of it was Government money, turned over to it by the President. In the last nine months it has dispersed in England $1,071,000 in cash; $4,000,000 in surgical dressings; $3,348,000 in blankets and clothing; $1,076,000 in medical and surgical hospital supplies, and $205,000 in ambulances. It has distributed in England a total of 1,589,000 garments and 14,828,000 surgical dressings. Mr. Bruce said that the cash had largely been spent on medical and surgical goods, vaccines, serums, blood plasma, food, mobile canteens and ambulances.

NEARLY all of the supplies have gone over from here in British vessels. More than 300 shipments have been made; sometimes as many as twenty-two cargoes a week have been cleared. By agreement with the British, the American Red Cross has been enabled also to send aid—particularly for children—to Spain and to unoccupied Greece, Finland and China. But it is embattled England to which its efforts to aid are chiefly devoted, and it is not helping in any way Germany or Italy or any country which the Germans occupy. The great bulk of the Red Cross money, material and effort is spent in aiding England. Not a dollar is going to the Axis powers. Most of the money is Government money. The thirty Red Cross officials in London are Americans. The Red Cross is a great neutral humanitarian organization. Yet it is helping England to win the war and not a voice is raised in protest. Nor will there be.

Today's Quiet Moment

Master, we have purposed to follow Thee so many times, and have faltered almost as many. We thank Thee for the Lenten season which is so admirably suited to the formation of consecrated purposes. May holy purposes become impelling forces. May we pause long enough beneath the cross to get direction, then follow the path of duty though it takes us in a direction opposite to desire. Amen.

In "Elery Queen, Master Detective," the current production in which he is starred at the Bristol Theatre, Ralph Bellamy again becomes the detective, albeit the greatest to come out of recent fiction. Margaret Lindsay is Ralph's vis-a-vis in this new picture, which was directed by Kurt Neumann. When things begin to happen in "One Night In Paris," they progress at lightning speed... girls, gaiety, music, love, and then... sudden death. Besides Judy Kelly, Hugh Williams is seen in the role of Rene, Joan Marion plays Lydia, and John Lodge has the important role of Inspector Bonnard. "One Night In Paris" is now at the Bristol Theatre.

"The Son of Monte Cristo," will have its premiere showing at the Grand Theatre today.

With a stellar cast featuring Joan Bennett, Louis Hayward and George Sanders, "The Son of Monte Cristo" unfolds a story concerning the young and gallant Count of Monte Cristo, son of France's greatest swordsman, and the villainous dictator of the little grand ducal principality of Lichtenburg, squeezed between the Russia of the Czar and the Germany of Bismarck in the late nineteenth century. The nominal ruler, Grand Duchess Zonia, played by Joan Bennett, is held a virtual prisoner by the dictator, portrayed by George Sanders.

RITZ THEATRE
Earl Carroll beauties, gorgeous gowns, spectacular dance numbers, comedy, hit tunes and stirring melodrama are the rich ingredients presented by Paramount in "A Night At Earl Carroll's," today at the Ritz Theatre.

With witty Ken Murray and lovely Rose Hobart cast opposite each other for romance, the picture has the additional advantages of those wacky comedians of the Bob Hope radio show, Brenda and Cobina, making their first movie appearances.

ROHM & HAAS AND MANHATTAN TO MEET IN PLAY-OFF TILTS

Tri-Game Series To Break
Dead-Lock Scheduled To Open Tonight

BOTH FIVES ARE PRIMED

Profy's To Meet Hoopers of Morrisville in Preliminary Battle

With both teams primed to perfection, the Rohm and Haas and the Manhattan A. A. will begin their three-game series tonight on the Italian Mutual Aid wooden way. Rohm and Haas captured the first half of the Bristol Basketball League while the Manhattan team won the second half. The winner of the championship will receive a large trophy.

The preliminary game will also be full of action for the local fans as the Profy Radomien who finished second in both halves will meet the Hoopers, leaders of the Morrisville Community League.

Manhattan and Rohm and Haas both went through a strenuous half schedule for their championship. The first half ended in a three-way deadlock with Manhattan, Profy, and Rohm and Haas in the tie. Rohm and Haas eliminated Manhattan by one point and then beat the Profy team by a lone counter. In the second half, Manhattan and Profy finished in an even-temper and in the playoff, Manhattan was victorious.

During the course of the regular season, the soap-makers twice beat the chemical workers, both by close scores and one game requiring three extra periods. All of the contests played by these two clubs have been thrillers and always pleased the fans.

The soapmen are the proud possessors of a 7-game winning streak and have lost but two games out of their last fourteen games. At the beginning of each half, the Manhattan lost their opening contest and then finished the half undefeated.

Both teams are high-gear for scoring. Manhattan has "Punkie" Zeffries, the league's champion scorer; Nick Hufnagel, who also finished in the first ten; Joe Snyder, who missed the first ten by being absent in two games; Moose Mulligan, and Joe Gallagher.

Ralph Cahall and "Augie" Everitt are the main cogs in the chemical mixers' line-up. Cahall who lost his scoring crown to Zeffries finished second this season while Everitt was third. Joe Roe was also high in the list of scorers.

When it comes to a tight clutch, Joe Roe is the man to watch. Game after game when the Rohm and Haas team was being pressed close, Joe would settle his team down so that there would be no over-anxious shooting and passing. If the score is close, Roe will be the player whom the fans will keep their eyes pinned on for he can come through with those long distance shots.

Manager Johnny Cole and Jesse Vanzant will cover the guarding for the Maple Beach team who will be striving to regain the crown won in 1938 and lost in 1939. Manhattan has yet to win a championship, this being their second season in the loop.

Both clubs have plenty of reserve strength. Manhattan has Joe Byers, the Morrisville player; Brock Harkins, and Rip Kelly while Rohm and Haas depends on Reds Gallagher, Pete DeLucca, Julius Gouza, Ray Burke, and Sammy Smith.

First game is scheduled to begin at eight o'clock sharp and officials will be "Henny" Morgan and "Mike" Derick.

PAPERMAKERS LOSE FOUR POINTS TO COFFEY TEAM

Ford V-8 took three points from the second place Auto Boys. Jones set the pace for the Henrys, rolling 607; Wichser led the Mill St. boys with 617.

Voltz-Texaco made a clean sweep over the carpet makers by taking four points. Baiocchi hit the pins with a 566 score. Blake was high for the rug cutters with 535.

In the other match Wilson Distillery crushed the Odd Fellows as they took all four points. Kondyra took high honors, 594; Bowman was high for the Oddies with 459.

2000 PHEASANTS ARE TO BE RELEASED IN COUNTY

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 6 — Two thousand pheasants are to be distributed in Bucks county during the next week; and streams of the county are to be stocked with larger fish, according to an announcement made by Bucks County Fish, Game and Forestry Association.

One hundred and fifty sportsmen were present for the meeting at the States dining hall on Thursday evening, with Charles A. Rowe, deputy county treasurer, presiding. He stated that there is a scarcity of pheasants in Bucks county now. The pheasants will be received by the game protector who will release them.

Secretary Earl D. Blair reported having received a communication from the fish commissioner that the streams of Bucks county will be stocked with larger fish than in former years. The capacities of the state hatcheries has been increased one hundred per cent from 1939 to 1940 and another 100 per cent increase is expected to be made from 1940 to 1941, so that prospects for fishing in the state take on added interest.

President Rowe appointed as members of the legislative committee: C. A. Wagoner, Philadelphia; Harold J. Barndt, this place; Charles S. Kratz, Hartsville, and President Judge Hiram H. Keller, of this place, to investigate some of the great changes in the dog laws and mentioned a number of resolutions mentioned in connection with the Fish, Game and Forestry Association game and fishing laws.

were entertained as a visiting delegation.

President Rowe, who gave a report on the highlights of the convention in Harrisburg in January, said there will be a 50 cent increase on fishing licenses, bringing the cost of a fishing license up to $2. He also mentioned some of the great changes in the dog laws and mentioned a number of resolutions mentioned in connection with the Fish, Game and Forestry Association game and fishing laws.

Twenty new members joined the association. Cold forging of complicated copper parts from bar stock in a single die-forming operation without sticking in the mold is said to be possible by use of a specially developed graphite lubricant which does not affect the dimensions of parts.
